ISRI Electronics Certification Program

Educational Short Courses

Implementing a comprehensive management system is a significant investment of time and resources. What benefits can a recycler expect to see? How do the initial implementation and ongoing maintenance of a management system translate to real value for the recycler and his customers? Participants will hear the underlying values built into the standards, and the real-world advantages small and large recyclers have.

Speakers: Rike Sandlin, HiTech Assets; Corey Dehmey, Momentum Management Consulting; John Linglebach, R2 Solutions; Bruce Jan, CycleLution; Tracey Blaszk, Arrow Intechra

Lifetime Achievement Awards

Michael Maslansky

Michael Maslansky spends a great deal of time thinking about why some messages stick and others don't, and why sometimes the right word at the right time can make all the difference in creating successful communications. As CEO of Maslansky, Luntz & Partners, Maslansky advises Fortune 500 companies, industry associations, and professional communicators on language strategies that shift perceptions and move markets. His book, The Language of Trust: Selling Ideas in a World of Skeptics explores new words, new phrases, and new communication techniques to address situations where there appears to be a "failure to communicate." This exciting general session program will feature a live focus group onstage providing ISRI attendees with a unique view into the minds of the target audience.

U.S. International Electronics Recycling Summit

Updated February 17, 2012

The U.S.-International Electronics Recycling Summit will feature government officials from China, India, and Brazil outlining the current state of electronics recycling in those countries. Discussion will focus on prevailing regulatory approaches, recycling targets, and needed technologies. The Summit intends to highlight the business opportunities that exist in those foreign markets for recyclers, technology vendors, and other interested parties.

Speakers: Dr. Nabil Bonduki, Secretary for Water Resources and Urban Environment, Ministry of Environment, Brasilia

Zhong Bin, Director, Division of Solid Wastes Management Department of Pollution Prevention and Control, Ministry of Environmental Protection of the People's Republic of China, Beijing

Shri Rajiv Gauba, Joint Secretary, Ministry of Environment and Forests, New Delhi

Plastics ID

Back for a fifth straight year! Last year this session was the highest rated of the convention by convention goers! ISRI's Plastic ID course is a simple, no-nonsense course for recyclers that are learning the basics of how to identify the plastics that come into their yard. This course will step participants through the basics of various manufacturing techniques and resins. Finally, participants will learn why resins should be separated if they want to receive the most value for their bales. It is recommended that participants of this seminar attend the Plastic Testing Techniques seminar that immediately follows at 2:00pm

Speakers: Dennis Hayford, Polymers Center of Excellence

11:15 a.m. – 12:30 p.m.

Panama Canal Modernization

Discusses the widening of the Panama Canal and how it will open up the east coast markets

Moderator: Leonard Zeid, Midland Davis Corp.

Plastic Testing Techniques

As with any commodity, it is important that recyclers develop the tools and abilities to test the plastic bales that come into their facilities. In this panel, participants will learn about how they can test their materials in the field and the tools needed to do this. They will also be given a basic understanding on the proper techniques for preparing a sample for testing. This course is a must for recyclers that handle plastic and will help them understand how to receive the most value for their bales. It is recommended that participants of this session attend the Plastics ID seminar immediately preceding this one at 11:00am

Moderator: Dennis Hayford, Polymers Center of Excellence

Speakers: Pat Sells, Rigaku Technologies, Inc.

ISRI Professional Advancement Networking Meeting

Come listen and ask questions as longtime industry executives tell their story. Hear how they got involved with the industry, what key decisions got them where they are today and how ISRI has helped their company. This session is for those who have been in the industry for 10 years or less and are interested in forming new bonds with others in the industry, hearing from those who have been in the business and learning how to take advantage of the services ISRI has to offer. The session will encourage a free flowing question and answer format that will lead into ISRI's Consumer Night Reception afterward.

Speakers: Mark Lewon, Utah Metal Works

3:30 p.m. – 4:45 p.m.

Commodity Networking

Workshop spaces become networking spaces as processors, traders, brokers and consumers are encouraged to meet in information sessions prior to the annual Meet Your Consumer Receptions.

ISRI Distinguished Speaker Series

Presented By Caterpillar

Former U.S. President George W. Bush

George W. Bush was sworn into office on January 20, 2001 and served as Commander in Chief for two consecutive terms. Since leaving office, President Bush has focused on developing the George W. Bush Presidential Center at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, which will encompass the Presidential Library and Museum, Archives, and the George W. Bush Institute. The Institute, which President Bush announced in the fall of 2009, will advance the principles that guided him during his time in public service and has four areas of engagement: education, global health, human freedom, and economic growth, and two cross-cutting areas that permeate the four: the women's initiative and social entrepreneurship. The institute will engage in action-oriented research and create partnerships with foundations, social entrepreneurs, NGOs, government entities, and faith-based organizations. The Institute's mission is to turn ideas into action.

Carpet, Plastic Recycling and Market Demand

The amounts of plastic that are being used in the manufacture of carpet is increasing daily. The logical question that stems from this is what markets are available for the recycled material? For example, The increased use of PET in carpet has lead to many questions on how it will impact PET and other resin markets. This seminar will focus on the challenges and opportunities that may be available to recyclers that are interested in understanding more about this growing source of material. Learn from carpet manufacturers, carpet recyclers and others on the future of carpet and how it ties into plastic recycling.

Plastic Safety and Operations

ISRI is committed to the concept of "Safely or Not at All". As more and more facilities are adding plastic to the list of commodities they handle, the question of how to recycle plastic safely is moving to the forefront. Plastic bales react differently than paper, tire or non-ferrous bales to the tensile strength of bale wire. Understanding how to approach these bales and the material in general is a key component of any plastic recycling operation.
